The Macau Special Olympics hosted its 2014 CESL Asia & MSO Bocce Game Event on Sunday at its headquarters, attracting more than 120 participants in total. The organizer expressed hopes that, through the bocce game, people who are mentally-challenged or students with special education needs were encouraged to engage in sport activities believed to be conducive to their self-discovery of talents and interests.

The bocce game welcomed mentally-challenged people from local special schools, sheltered workshops, caring centers and residential cares as well as their parents. Participants enjoyed the game in groups based on their age and skills with delight. Volunteers from CESL Asia interacted with the game's players with enthusiasm throughout the bocce game, adding to the enormous joy of the day.

In support of the development of social works for years, CESL Asia launched its "CESL Asia Social Investment" fund in 2000 to support the socially vulnerable groups in the city.

Present at the game were also representatives and guests respectively from CESL Asia, Macau Sport Development Board, Education and Youth Affairs Bureau and Sports Committee, who joined the award presentation later.
